

A promotional image for the musical 'Mamma Mia! The Party'. The cast of five performers is posed in a picturesque Mediterranean courtyard. In the center, a man in a light-colored suit and a woman in a light blue shirt and dark pants are smiling and gesturing towards the camera. Behind them, a man in a dark vest and white shirt is playing an acoustic guitar, and a woman in a white shirt and dark vest is smiling. To the right, a woman in a bright blue blazer is also smiling and gesturing. The background features a stone wall with two sets of blue wooden shutters, each with a potted plant in front of it. The courtyard is decorated with pink flowers and string lights. A large, glowing image of a couple dancing is visible through the open blue doors in the background.

HOW IT ALL BEGAN

While filming Mamma Mia! The Movie on the island of Skopelos in 2007, ABBA's Björn Ulvaeus was inspired to create Mamma Mia! The Party.

Five years later, that idea came to life in Stockholm, where an old restaurant became Nikos Taverna—a fully immersive dining and theatrical experience set in the sun-soaked world of Mamma Mia!, complete with ABBA hits and a charming maître d' inspired by Ulvaeus's memories. The new show would still feature all the greatest hits by ABBA, but this time the audience could sing and dance along.

Bringing the show to London proved more difficult, as historic venues posed too many logistical challenges. Eventually, the team discovered Building 6 at The O2—a former⁴ nightclub that could be transformed into their

THE SHOW

Created by ABBA's Björn Ulvaeus, Mamma Mia! The Party is the world's foremost theatrical dining experience, set to a timeless soundtrack filled with some of ABBA's greatest hits.

As the sun sets on the island of Skopelos, take your seats at Nikos' family-run taverna to enjoy a delicious four-course Greek meal whilst a romantic and heartwarming love story blossoms all around you.

Following the performance — which is filled with classic ABBA anthems such as Mamma Mia, Dancing Queen, and Waterloo — you are invited to dance the night away at a glittering ABBA disco.
